DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's response filed on 02/28/2006 and 12/01/2005 have been fully considered. The prior art rejection mailed on 09/07/2005 has been withdrawn in view of Applicant's comment.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I claims 1-7 in the reply filed on 02/28/2006 is acknowledged. Claim 8 is withdrawn from consideration as non-elected invention.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 1774

4. Claims 1-7 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-9 of U.S. Patent No. 6,811,866 B1.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because '866 claims a stencil sheet comprising a thermoplastic resin film and a porous substrate, wherein the thermoplastic resin film comprises a release agent and a polyolefin (see claims and specification in col. 4, line 13). Thus the claims of '866 are obvious over the claims of the claims of the current invention.

5. Claims 1-7 rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4 of U.S. Patent No. 6,632,515 B1.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because '515 claims a stencil sheet comprising a thermoplastic resin film and a porous substrate, wherein the thermoplastic resin film comprises a release agent and a polyolefin (see claims and specification in col. 3, line 63 and col. 5, line 5). Thus the claims of '515 are obvious over the claims of the claims of the current invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-4, 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kawatsu et al. (US 6,025,286).

A stencil sheet comprises a fibrous support and a layer of polyester film (abstract, background art and claim 1). The fibrous support is equivalent to the claimed fiber layer, and the layer of polyester film is equivalent to the claimed layer. A layer of silicone based release agent is coated on the layer of polyester film (col. 8, line 11). The melting point of the layer of polyester film is 230 degree C or lower (col. 3, line 53). With respect to the value of the ratio of storage modulus, basis weight value and air permeability value, it is elementary that the mere recitation of newly discovered function or property, inherently possessed by things in the prior art, does not cause a claim drawn to those things to distinguish over the prior art. In re swinehart et al., 169 USPQ 226 at 229. Since the Kawatsu reference teaches all of Applicant's claimed compositional and positional limitations, it is inherent that the reference article function in the same manner claimed by Applicant. The burden is upon Applicant to prove that the subject matter shown to be in the prior art does not possess the characteristic relied on.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawatsu et al. (US 6,025,286).

Kawatsu does not expressly disclose a pore size value of the layer of polyester film. The experimental modification of this prior art in order to ascertain optimum operating conditions fails to render applicants' claims patentable in the absence of unexpected results. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to adjust the pore size in order to optimize ink permeability and enhance print quality. A prima facie case of obviousness may be rebutted, however, where the results of the optimizing variable, which is known to be result-effective, are unexpectedly good. In re Boesch and Slaney, 205 USPQ 215.
